

1. The first 5 steps are like tightrope walking. One leg is placed exactly in front of the other so that the person seems to be walking in a line.
The right hand goes slowly forward and bends on the elbow a little as it tries to be near the body.
2. The next three steps are staccato steps. Walking with breaks after each step.
3. The next four steps are forward low-place middle-forward high-side middle. Person 1 has a bow around all these four steps and hence he performs them in a flow. While person 2 performs them without a flow by stopping after completion of each step.
4. The next three steps is a jump where the legs are not very far away while jumping.
